

YOUR RESOURCES ARE ENOUGH

The mast had been dead for seven years. Nobody remembered who built it.

A tall, rusty metal tower stands against a grey, overcast sky. Three men are climbing the tower. One man in a yellow shirt is on the left, another in a red shirt is in the middle, and a third in an orange shirt is at the bottom right. They are all wearing safety harnesses. Two solar panels are attached to the tower, one on the left and one on the right. The tower has several antennas and other electronic equipment at the top.

THE REAL PROBLEM SOLVERS

Someone finally asked: "Why can't we climb it and make it ours?"

A COMMUNITY POWERED ITSELF

From forgotten structure to digital hub:
proving local action creates lasting impact.

THE COMMUNITY CONNECTED

The first searches were exam questions —
and a video call to an uncle in Johannesburg.

